

THE AUSTRALIAN CLEAN ENERGY INVESTMENT SYMPOSIUM

THE WESTIN HOTEL, 8:30AM – 5:00PM,
THURSDAY 1ST SEPTEMBER 2011, SYDNEY

Clean Energy is in the news every day, but what does it really mean for investors and what do they need to understand when investing in the sector? Who are the companies in this space and what are the future investment threats and opportunities?

With the proposed closure of an estimated 2000 megawatts of high polluting electricity capacity by 2020, immediate investment in and development of clean energy sources is essential. Energy providers, investors and funding entities need to better understand key market drivers and influences. Significant growth is being driven in the clean energy market, with global investment in clean energy already eclipsing investment in conventional energy generation.

This one day Symposium will look at the drivers and trends in this market sector, as well as showcasing a dozen listed or soon to be listed companies. Emerging clean energy companies in Australia will compete for an opportunity to showcase their latest business strategies to an audience of private and corporate investors, venture capitalists, bankers, brokers and analysts.

For investors it provides a forum to better understand exactly what opportunities exist and what they need to understand when investing in the sector.

Global Scene Environmental Solutions, an Australian leader in carbon, energy and fuel solutions, is committed to providing action through clean energy advice, leadership and solutions. In conjunction with Symposium, Australia's leader in connecting the Australian resources industry with the domestic and international investment community, the Clean Energy Investment Symposium is an event not to be missed to better understand Clean Energy Investment opportunities.
